"THE WEB OF DECEIT"

"Oh Had I But Known Before What I Know Now."

What heartaches I would have been saved? Oh, the mysery I stored up for myself when I tried to deceive others."

Across the void of her mind flashed pictures of her childhood as she played in the sunshine and flowers.

Then girlhood in the city when first she met "RED" Smith. How she loved him. Then came those days of heart-wringing anguish when she lied as to her identity—when she stole—then she entagled herself in a web of her own weaving—a web that seared her soul.

"OH WHAT A TANGLED WEB WE WEAVE WHEN FIRST WE PACTISE TO DECEIVE."

A DRAMA THAT SHOWS THE CROSS SECTION OF A WOMAN'S HEART

Do woman deceive more than men.

Out of what are you weaving the web of your life?

Dear Mr. Noel,

Its just four months since I last had the pleasure of your course of physical training and I am glad to say I have benefited immensely by it.

I could first lift up only 80 pounds, but now I can jerk up 175 pounds with ease.

All my muscles have been fully developed and I would recommend your system to all those in need of such and a symetrical figure. Thanking you for all the good you have done me.

I Remain,
Yours Sincerely,

RADIUM-LIGHTED WATCHES.

Ingersoll "Radiolite" watches are the kind that do not quit at Sundown—or any other time. They tell the time day and night.

Radium is the most expensive mineral substance in the world, and yet it is the substance employed to give the luminous power to the figures and hands of the Ingersoll "Radiolite" watches. True, the proportion of radium used is infinitesimal, but imprisoned within the crystals of another substance containing several other minerals, it causes the substance to glow with a brilliancy that would be quite impossible were radium not used.

Ingersoll Radiolite

watches never sleep—they show the time in the daylight and glow the time at night; they are full 24-hour-a-day watches.

Only Ingersolls are Radiolites, and every genuine Ingersoll watch has the name on dial, and is timed and tested before leaving factory.

There are a number of Ingersoll models, from Rs. 45 down to Rs. 10, sold by leading stores and shops throughout the world.

PIECE-GOODS.

The cloth market has been very quiet during the past week. The absence of demand, retail as well as wholesale has been chiefly due to the following causes:—(1) The shortage of rain in some of the districts; (2) the decline in the rate of exchange due to the decision of the Government to withdraw the weekly offer of sterling drafts on London after the sale of Reverse Councils of the 28th September; (3) the depression in the Manchester market, which is said to be more acute than at any time since 1914, there being three million spindles, 25,000 looms and 18,000 operatives working only partially. It seems that a general movement is on foot to reduce the excessive cost of living by cutting down the high prices. The Amos Keag Manufacturing Company in New Hampshire, employing ten thousand operatives and producing four million yards weekly, has announced a reduction of 33-1/3 per cent. in the price of manufactured cotton goods owing to unsettlement in the cotton market and in consequence of heavy cancellations of orders. Several textile companies in United States have also cut down their prices ranging from thirty to forty per cent. As a sequel to the unauthorised strike of spinners and piecers at Oldham, whereby two hundred mills have been closed and 40,000 operatives rendered idle, the Employers' Association had vetoed the reopening without its permission, but at a joint meeting of the employers, the Opratives' Union and the officials it was agreed to reopen the mills on 5th October.

The tightness of the money market has continued and the rate of interest has remained high. It is reported that the bank rate in England, which is 7 per cent. since 15th April, 1920, will be raised in the near future, in the hope that large stocks of goods at present held back will be marketed, thus reducing the prices. The Coal Miners' strike has been averted for the time being and the Miners' Federation Executive and the Coal Owners Central Committee have arranged to meet at the Board of Trade on 25th instant.

The prospects for the new crop of American Cotton are bright and it is expected that the figure will be between 13 and 13¼ million bales, and as the production will be curtailed by the closing down of the mills, the price of cotton will rather decline than advance. The quotations for piece-goods received by wire from Manchester show a decline of nearly 30 per cent. on the rates quoted six months back.

The Importing Firms, who had purchased goods on their own account some months ago, will have to suffer very heavy losses. Dealers have been adopting a waiting policy and are chary to commit themselves to any fresh transaction until the situation becomes clear and the market settles down. Reuter's telegrams have given considerable publicity to the depression in Lancashire, with the result that the upcountry buyers have been scared away and have remained aloof from the market. It is reported that a big lot of Red Shirtings has been sold at fair prices by an Importing Firm to a merchant in the bazaar.

GREYS.

Grey Shirtings of Manchester make have been steady, but with nothing doing. Jaconets have not been much in demand, although prices here are Rs. 1-8-0 per piece less than the replacing cost in Manchester. Dhooties have been drugs in the market and values have further declined in sympathy with the local makes, with the result that dealers have to suffer a loss of nearly Rs. 2 per pair.

Local mill cloths have been in some demand, Sheetings have fetched Rs. 1-11 to Rs. 1-12 per lb. and Longcloths Rs. 1-12 to Rs. 1-13.

Japanese cloths have been easier owing to recent heavy arrivals.

WHITES.

The tendency in White goods seems to be for lower rates. 58 inches by 20 yards Red End Mulls have been easier by four annas per piece. 27 inches by 18 yards Green End Mulls have declined by two annas. 26 inches by 18 yards range of Nainsooks of a well-known firm have been quoted at Rs. 6 4. Shirtings have remained nominally steady. In White Dhooties dealers are losing Rs. 2 per piece on the high priced purchases.

The quotations for the leading shops of Greys and Whites are as under :—

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

VICTORIA GARDENS TRAGEDY.

NECESSITY FOR GREATER VIGILANCE.

A meeting of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held under the presidency of Mr. V. A. Dabholkar on Friday.

SOLDIERS AND LADIES' COMPARTMENTS.

Mr. Fazal Ibrahim Rahimtulla moved the following proposition:—

"That the President be requested to address Government requesting that the G. I. P. and the B. B. and C. I. Railway Companies be asked to take such measures as they may consider necessary for preventing soldiers from entering compartments reserved for ladies."

Mr. Fazal said the matter required very serious consideration at the hands of the Corporation. During the course of his journeys to Poona he found many respectable ladies being troubled by soldiers entering their compartments. Some of these took a good deal of liquor during the journey and were not quite in their senses. when they entered compartments, especially second class compartments, reserved for ladies, and thus created great inconvenience to ladies. He was informed by several friends of his that such incidents also took place on the B. B. and C. I. Railway between Churney Road and Andheri. This caused great inconvenience and troublle to ladies. He was told that several gentlemen had complained to the guards and stationmasters about such incidents but no heed had been paid to them.

Mr. S. C. Dhondi, seconding the proposition said he had had similar experience while travelling between Deolali and Bombay. The soldiers not only annoyed ladies as complained of, but when they were occupying a compartment even in such a small number as two or three they did not allow other passengers to enter it.

NOT WITHIN CORPORATION'S PURVIEW.

Mr. N. M. Joshi did not think such propositions fell within the purview of the Corporation. Besides, unless they quoted individual instances, Government might say that the charges were vague. He asked them to think twice before they entered into a discussion of questions which were not within the purview of the Corporation.

Mr. B. N. Motiwala entirely disagreed with Mr. Joshi's contention that such matters should not be taken notice of by the Corporation. It was the duty of the railway companies to see that no males entered compartments reserved for ladies. He supported the proposition.

Mr. Gulabchand Devchand, further supporting the proposition, said such incidents were of fairly frequent occurrence, and should be put a stop to.

The proposition was carried.

Mr. S. C. Dhondi moved:—

"That the attention of the Commissioner be invited to the very unsatisfactory condition of Hornby Road, which extends from Flora Fountain to the Crawford Market and he be requested to report the reasons why the road is in such a condition of disrepair though it was repaired and tarred very recently; that the Commissioner be also requested to submit a report within a fortnight containing the necessary particulars and dates as to the roade repaired since the appointment of the new Roads Engineer."

Mr. Fazal Ibrahim Rahimtulla moved an amendment referring the subject matter of the proposition to the Roads Committee.

The amendment was carried.

VICTORIA GARDENS TRAGEDY.

Dr. D. A. D'Monte moved:

"That the Commissioner be requested to report whether there is any satisfactory explanaion, and if so what, as to how the man, who was killed by lions in the Victoria Gardens on the 23rd August 1920, got into the lions' cage. That the Commissioner be also requested to report what steps he proposes to take for the protection of visitors to the Victoria Gardens from meeting with such accidents and for providing a stricter and more efficient watch near the cages of wild animals in the Gardens."

Dr. D'Monte said they had read the reports published in the newspapers about this occurrence, but from them it was not possiblle for anyone to come to a conclusion as to how the man came by his death. The four witnesses examined before the Coroner's jury appeared to have made inconsistent statements.

Dr. N. A. F. Moos seconded the proposition.

The Commissioner said if the Coroner and his jury had taken the trouble of seeing the spot, as was sometimes done in certain cases, they would not have given the verdict that they had done. He thought if any member of the Corporation would see the spot he would be perfectly satisfied that there was no negligence on the part of the staff and that there was no measure that they could take to prevent a man from committing suicide in that way if he wanted to do so.

Mr. S. C. Dhondy and Dr. M. C. Javle said they had seen the place and were of opinion that the man was either insane or wanted to commit suicide.

The proposition was carried.

OPTION OF LAND AT WORLI.

Dr. N. H. E. Sukhia moved:—"That the Corporation strongly protest against the City Improvement Trust Board considering the question of giving an option of land at Worlee at a rate which the Corporation have reason to believe is much below the market value. (2) That the Corporation view this action of the Trust as one calculated to cause heavy loss to the public purse and sacrifice of revenue, which is required for the extension of the Trust's programme for building chawls for the poor, and for the improvement of slums in the city, without causing great dislocation of the poor and middle-class population residing therein, (3) that in view of the assurance of Government that the Trust is to be handed over to the Corporation at an early date the Corporation are of opinion that in view of the liability which is proposed to be thrown on them their views in the matter should be fully respected, (4) that the President be requested to address Government in terms of the foregoing paragraphs and to forward a copy of this resolution to the City Improvement Trust."

Mr. S. C. Dhondy seconded the proposition, which was carried.

The Corporation adjourned to Monday.

MR. J. H KHAIRAJ.

SAVED FROM A RUFFIAN.

On September 12th a Japanese woman died in the house of a Mahomedan at Null Bazar, and the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death complex with foul play, and the C. I. D. who had in hand further investigation into the circumstances Inspected Abdul Gani, the Mahomedan owner of the house. A summons had been issued against him at the instance of the Police by Mr .G. R. Khairaz. On Wednesday night about 8 o'clock a Mahomedan wanted to see Mr. Khairaz at his bungalow and as he was rather prowling about he was arrested and handed over to the Police, who found a new clasp-knife on him. It was afterwards found that the man arrested was Abdul Gani after whom the police were. Further enquiries are being made into the whole circumstances attending upon Gani's visit to Mr. Khairaz's bungalow.

A local correspondent writes under date September 30:—

At about 8 p.m. on Wednesday last a sensation was created at the Chowpathy Sea-face, when it was learnt that a Mahomedan ruffian had attempted to make his way into the room of Mr. G. R. Khairaz, the Fourth Presidency Magistrate, evidently with he intention of assault. The ruffian ran up the second floor of the building opposite the Wilson College, and near the Orient Club were Mr. Khairaz with his family, resides, and wanted to see Mr. Khairaz.

One of the servants, from the movements of the ruffian, grew suspicious, and had him arrested when a large knife was found concealed in his clothes. The Gamdevi Police-station was 'phoned at once, and the man was handed over to the police officers, who soon arrived on the scene.

APPOINTED TO INDIA COUNCIL?

A COLOMBO REPORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COLOMBO, Oct. 1.

The Reform Scheme has been rejected by the Executive Committee of the Ceylon National Congress and Non-Co-operation resolved upon. A largely attended meeting of the Committee was held yesterday evening, when Reforms were discussed. After an animated discussion, lasting till 8 p.m., it was resolved to reject and not to participate in giving effect to the scheme and a Committee was appointed to use all lawful means to further that end.

A vote of "no confidence" in Governor Manning was also passed.

The Committee meets again on Wednesday to transact remaining business.

The Ceylon National Congress will meet on Friday and Saturday, October, 15, and 16.

The "Morning Leader" asserts that the offer of membership of the India Council to Mr. C. Y. Chintamani will not arouse much surprise for, "his politics have, during the last three years, been particularly congenia to the authorities." The journal says, "between the Secretary of State and Mr. Chintamani there exists a great degree of mutual admiration, which is, so far as we can see; daily growing. It will be quite consistent with the fitness of things if Mr Chintamani gradually rises to all the great things that Lord Sinha has earned."

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Saturday, October 2, 1920.

THE CITY POLICE.

It is, perhaps, to be expected that in a city like Bombay, whose population has been steadily increasing of late, crime of all sorts should also show some increase. The report of the Commissioner of Police, on the work of the City Police for 1919, bears evidence as to this, but the natural increase of population does not account for all the increase of crime that was noticed last year or for some of its abnormal features with which the police had to cope. As the statistics quoted in the Government Resolution on the Commissioner's report show, there has been a steady increase, during the last five years, in the number of cognisable and non-cognisable cases, the total, which stood at 64,006, in 1915, having mounted to 91,442 in 1919. Another disquieting feature of last year's census of crime is the fact that the increase in offences coming under the Indian Penal Code amounted to as much as 18 per cent., as against five per cent. in the previous year and was confined mainly to theft, house-breaking and cheating. According to the Police Commissioner, among the contributing causes of this rise were "the high cost of living, an over-crowded city, grave scarcity up-country leading to an influx of paupers and the pre-occupations of the police in connection with protracted industrial and political unrest." The last remark refers, of course, to the mill and dock strikes of the first two months of the year and to the agitation against the Rowlatt Act, the Satyagraha Movement, the deportation of Mr. Horniman and the Khilafat agitation, which kept the Bombay Police on tenter-hooks most part of the year. But of this anon. The main cause of the increase of crime under the Penal Code is stated by the Commissioner to be that, while supervision over the professional criminal in other parts of India grows stricter each succeeding year, the conditions prevailing in Bombay make it easy for him to batten on the city. The Commissioner, therefore, advocates an active campaign of deportation against foreign criminals and has asked for the application to the City of the Criminal Tribes Act. The Commissioner estimates that there are in the city about 12,000 members of recognised criminal tribes and thinks that while, by day, the bulk of these persons are law-abiding artisans, their hereditary instincts lead many of them to revert to crime at night. There may be some truth in this statement, but we do not think the additional powers—which the Commissioner asks for and with which the Government contemplate to arm him—are desirable or necessary to rid the city of a large number of these people. Is it quite certain that the Bombay Police, if its efficiency in preventing, not to speak of detecting, crime, is as it ought to be, will not be able to deal with them under the existing powers? There is a considerable lack of efficiency in the prevention and detection of crime. And the real cause of the lack of efficiency is that the best brains of the police force are devoted to "political" work and their attention is also concentrated on extra police duties.

Serious offences against person and property registered a large increase during the year. Cases of murder numbered 42 in 1919 as against 27 in 1918, grievous hurt 266 as against 163, hurt 241 as against 206, robbery 117 as against 78, lurking house-trespass etc., 1675 as against 1277. Minor offences against person and property also showed large increases. That only 19 out of 62 cases of murder and attempted murder should have resulted in conviction—nine of the rest ending in acquittal, 30 remaining undetected (including 16 infanticide cases) and four being declared to be mistaken—does not reflect credit on the Department. Similarly, of 11 cases of culpable homicide, only six ended in conviction, three remaining undetected and two being declared to be mistakes of fact. The small percentage of property recovered in theft cases also does not redound to the detective skill of the local police. The total value of the property reported to have been stolen during the year amounted to Rs. 20,43,619 as compared with Rs. 11,99,199 in 1918 and Rs. 10,79,429 in 1917. But the police were able to recover only Rs. 7,43,914 or about 36.41 per cent. The Commissioner opines that the small percentage of recovery in house-breaking and theft cases and in cases of simple theft would indicate the fact that professional thieves were responsible for the offences. The Commissioner also thinks that a large number of thefts and cases of criminal breach of trust are "the direct and inevitable outcome of the misplaced confidence of Indian merchants in servants about whom they know little or nothing"—an observation which belongs to the category of dangerously facile generalisations. But his remarks regarding the loose methods of cashing cheques for enormous sums, still tolerated in Indian mercantile circles, are not wholly unjustified.

A rather alarming feature of the Commissioner's report is the heavy increase in the number of casualties in street accidents during the year. As many as 78 persons were killed and 2,357 injured as a result of these accidents as compared with 79 killed and 1,904 injured in the previous year. Motor traffic alone was responsible for 46 fatal accidents and injuries to 841 persons. Of the fatalities, 16 are stated to have been due to the fault of the pedestrian, 12 to the fault of the driver and 12 to pure accidents, while six were doubtful cases. Twelve persons were killed and 346 injured by tram cars, 10 killed and 510 injured by hack victorias, 8 killed and 325 injured by other public conveyances and 2 killed and 335 injured by private conveyances. As pointed out by the Commissioner, the number of persons killed or injured in connection with motor accidents is out of all proportion to the increase in the number of cars on the streets. We fully endorse his remark that the only remedy is a steady prosecution of offenders against the rules of the road. The criminal recklessness with which a large number of owners and chauffeurs—among whom we especially include drivers of motor lorries—are to be found driving their vehicles even through crowded and narrow streets, requires effective curbing. The report says that in 1919, 209 prosecutions were started under the Motor Vehicles Act, of which 155 ended in conviction. In addition 278 persons were warned for various offences and 31 public driving licenses were suspended. Looking at the steadily increasing number of offences against traffic regulations, we think the suggestion of the Commissioner that a special Bench should be created to try in a summary manner such cases is reasonable and we hope to see such a Bench established early. The state of most of Bombay's roads, especially those in which there is heavy traffic, at all times is such as to make one wonder that the accidents are not greater in number than they actually are. We have a word to say regarding the regulation of traffic by the average policeman in Bombay stationed at street junctions. Apparently he is under the impression that his whole duty lies in regulating vehicular traffic and even if he sees women and children, as also men, running straight into the vortex of the traffic, getting nonplussed and incurring the risk of being run over every moment, he moves not a finger, though he can easily do so, to warn them against the grave danger and to point out to them the more circuitous but less risky route they ought to take. We shall deal on another occasion with the part played by the City Police during the Labour and political unrest of last year.

Notes of the Day.

The Tilak Memorial.

Innumerable have been the suggestions which have been made with a view suitably to commemorate the services of the late Lokamanya Tilak and to bring nearer achievement the goal of his life-long struggles. Local memorials, in stone, marble or bronze, or in the shape of institutions of public utility, have been and will no doubt be established in all parts of the country wherever his memory is cherished, but the desire has also been universally expressed that a suitable All-India memorial should be raised in his name. We published yesterday the views of Mr. N. C. Kelkar on the subject and we print to-day the suggestions which Mr. V. J. Patel has made in the same connection. The All-India Congress Committee will consider these and other suggestions at its meeting to-day. It is evident that there is an almost unanimous feeling in Congress circles, which, of course, includes the vast majority of Tilak's admirers, that the All-India Memorial should take the form of a huge national fund, the major portion of which at least should be utilised for propaganda abroad in the interests of the political emancipation of this country. Concrete proposals in this connection have been formulated by Mr. Patel and we earnestly hope the All-India Committee will give them its best consideration. Mr. Patel's proposals do not differ much from Mr. Kelkar's and we know that the Bengal and Punjab leaders at the time of the last Calcutta Congress, were also keen on carrying on political propaganda in Western countries with a view to convince the world of the justness of India's demands. Moreover, as Mr. Kelkar testifies, Mr. Tilak himself, after his return from England, attached the greatest value to sustained political propaganda abroad.

Need of Foreign Propaganda.

Twenty lakhs, which Mr. Patel suggests as the minimum, is not too large an amount to expend on work such as is under contemplation. We cannot, of course, afford to slacken the vigour of our agitation in this country. That must engage our best and most sustained efforts. But simultaneously we should carry on foreign propaganda, if we wish to enlist the sympathies of the world in our struggle. Sympathies of outside nations cannot be roused unless we make known to them our aims and aspirations and keep them constantly informed of the fortunes of our struggles. There is also another thing to be remembered. The bureaucracy has begun to see that the days are past when it could expect the people of this country, including the "illiterate masses", to take the bureaucrats' word as gospel truth. The bona fides of the bureaucracy are constantly being questioned and its actions scrutinised as never in its life time. So the bureaucracy has thought it necessary to fight the rising democracy by weapons of propaganda on its own behalf. The so-called departments of information are nothing but propagandist bureaus, as each day that passes goes to show. Indeed, the Government of Burma have thrown off the mask and told the public in open Council that they are contemplating the starting of an official newspaper to counter-act the "poison" of political propaganda of the Indian and Burmese "agitators." Sir R. Craddock has engaged the services of the European Editor of the "Rangoon Times"—a journal bitterly opposed to Burmese and Indian aspirations—for the post of Director of Information. The public revenues of this country are, therefore, being utilised in this manner to fight the people themselves. That the bureaucracy is bent on carrying on the struggle against the nationalist movement not only in this country, but also abroad, will be apparent from the fact that the Government of India are deputing Principal Horne of the Patna College to proceed to America to carry on propaganda there against the Indian national movement. In these circumstances there is an urgent need of active propaganda abroad on behalf of the people of India and the country should not hesitate to raise the funds needed to accomplish the end in view.

Non-Cooperation and Ceylon.

It must now appear to be a foregone conclusion that the entire public of Ceylon, barring, of course, the small and powerful European planter community and a few titled henchmen of the bureaucracy, will be ranged sooner or later against the "reformed" constitution which has just been foisted on the Island. The message we publish to-day from our Ceylon correspondent will show that the most numerous and influential section of the population—the Ceylonese proper—are utterly disappointed with the "boons" which the Colonial Office, in its magnanimity, has conferred on them, and will have nothing to do with them. The resolution which the Executive Committee of the Ceylon National Congress has now adopted and which will be submitted shortly to a special session of the Congress, not only declares the Reforms to be utterly inadequate, but calls upon the country to boycott them. Events in Ceylon, thus, are moving in the same direction as in India. The non-cooperation movement in Ceylon is in no way the outcome of or even inspired by the movement started in India. Ever since forecasts of what the reforms were going to turn out to be, have been made public, the Ceylonese leaders have been expressing their deep disgust and a determination to have nothing to do with them in case their fears were realised. Doubtless, the simultaneous struggle of a like character on the mainland of India would be watched by the Ceylonese with the utmost interest and they would also no doubt derive an added strength and inspiration from the movement in this country. But British statesmen will be foolish in the extreme if they are in any way led to imagine that the movement in Ceylon is not of a wholly spontaneous character and that it has anything to do with the agitation in this country.

A People's Protest.

We do not know what position Dr. Fernando, who has been interviewed by the "Pall Mall Gazette", occupies in his country, but his advice to his countrymen to work the Reforms "up to the hilt", disappointing though they are, is little likely to be listened to. Dr. Fernando asserts that Ceylon is in many ways ahead of India and that the "concessions", in consequence, should equal those in India. He urges his countrymen to accept the "boons" with good grace and make use of them for all they are worth. But are they really worth anything? To the majority of his countrymen the reforms constitute but a "charter of servitude." No man of self-respect will have anything to do with it, says Sir Ponnambalam Arunachelam, the leader of the Ceylon Congress Party. Even the Burgher class, which has but lukewarm sympathies for the nationalist movement in the Island, is little enamoured of the reactionary constitution which the Colonial Office has evolved for the better Government of Ceylon. The absolutist powers with which the Governor is invested in the new constitution, the mockery of a non-official majority with which the people are insulted, the deliberate introduction of discordant interests with a view to prevent national unity, the inequalities of representation—these and other undesirable features of the new constitution render it, in the eyes of all true patriots in Ceylon, a thing to be rejected. "They profess to give a boon to the people of Ceylon", says Sir Ponnambalam, "but poison it with suspicion and distrust and even with insult and contumely." The advice of Sir Ponnambalam and other leaders to their countrymen is to boycott the reforms totally, so that the Imperial Government may be convinced that the Ceylonese have passed the stage of infancy and are no longer satisfied with the diluted pabulum with which the local bureaucracy have been feeding them all these years and wish to continue to do in perpetuity, for their own ends.

The Director of Information.

The Director of Information will cost the public a considerable amount of money. His own salary will be Rs. 2,000. He has a large staff at his disposal and a lump provision of Rs. 36,000 has been made in the current year's budget for expenditure on him and his staff. It is doubtful whether the benefit the public will derive will be in proportion to the money spent on the new establishment. If the Director of Information confines himself to his legitimate duties, there is no need to create such a large establishment. If, however, the Director of Information tries his hand at propaganda, as he has already done in some cases, public interests will suffer. Government tried the subsidised press for a time; the attempt proved a total failure. The moment the subsidy was withdrawn, the artificially maintained paper also expired. Direct propaganda also will fail; it will go against Government. They should in their own interests confine the Director to giving information and prohibit him from taking part in any propaganda work.

MESOPOTAMIAN SITUATION.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT REPORTED-

ARAB CONCENTRATION BEING BOMBED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 30.
Recd. 9-30. a.m., Oct. 1.

Further improvement in the situation in Mesopotamia is indicated in a War Office communique which states that on the Lower Euphrates Samawa is quiet. Hostile concentrations were bombed on the morning of the 27th. The reconstruction of the railway west of Ur is making good progress.

The British artillery bombarded an Arab encampment near Museyib on the Middle Euphrates. The blockhouse system on the Bagdad Feiluiah railway has been completed. Northeast of Bagdad further operations around Deltawa have been hindered by heavy rain rendering the roads temporarily impassable. Prior to our occupation of the town, the insurgents flooded the low country by breaking the Tahila canal. Accurate gunfire drove them from their positions on the canal but owing to inundations, movement of troops is now confinded to the causeway.

A convoy from Bakuba reached Deltawa and returned without opposition on the 27th, but the Telegraph line between these places which had been repaired was cut again during night time. A number of Sheikhs made formal submission to the Government at a conference at Shahraban on the 27th. Kizil Robat was surrounded and searched on the 26th. A large quantity of Government stores was recovered.

BOLSHEVIST JEWELS.

The Parcels were addressed to Mr. Martens, the unrecognised Soviet, agent in America. It is estimated that £60,000 worth of stolen Russian jewels are being hawked about th diamond markets of the world.

The "Isvestia" the official organ of the Soviet Government announces that there were 998 executions in Russia in the month of July last including the crimes of looting 251 drunkenness, 15 stealing etcetera 59 desertion 517.

BIGGEST SINN FEIN COUP.

MALLOW BARRACKS RAIDED.

ALL WAR MARTIAL CARRIED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 12-45 p.m. Oct. 1.

A telegram from Cork reports the biggest coup the Sinn Feiners have yet effected. A hundred armed men conveyed in lorries raided the Mallow barracks occupied by the Seventeenth Lancers when the troopers were exercising their horses, a sergeant, who challenged their entry was shot down point blank and has died. A trooper clad in pants and vest rode barebacked for his comrades who returned after the attackers had left, having failed to set the barracks on fire. All war material was carried off including a Lewis gun, a large number of rifles and a considerably quantity of amunition. The affair caused consternation in the neighbouring town of Buttevant. All business was suspended and a large number of residents fled.

The anticipated reprisals for the murder at the Mallow barracks followed swiftly this morning when the town of Mallow of 5,000 inhabitants was set on fire in several places. The Town Hall, the creamery, the steam mills and many houses were destroyed. The damage amounts to many thousands. The fire brigade was unable to turn out owing to the curfew order.

A DARING EPISODE IN BELFAST RIOTS.

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 2-10 p.m., Oct. 1.

There was a very daring episode in the Belfast riots last night. A crowd attacked a military patrol waggon with rifles and revolvers. The military promptly turned a lewis gun on the mob of which two were shot dead and many wounded, some seriously.

"DAILY CHRONICLE" ON SINN FEIN MURDERS.

GOVERNMENT CASE EXPLAINED.

(REUTER'S TEEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 12-45 p.m. Oct. 1.

The "Daily Chronicle" in an inspired statement on the Government's Irish policy points out that the provocations have been far greater than the public has realised. The most ingenious devices of the latest Murder Clubs of the Far West have been imported into Ireland resulting in the assassination of a hundred policemen in the last few months. Some of the victims have been slain by shots fired from inside the pocket. Collection of evidence is impossible owing to the public being terrorised all possible witnesses are living in daily fear of their lives.

But the peculiar feature is that the murders are often well-known to the police although there are no convictions owing to want of evidence. Hence the police are forced to stand by and see the murderers of their comrades at liberty and unpunished. This has proved a terrible strain on the discipline and forbearance of the splendid force.

The Government knows that a great many of these facts especially the extent of Red Terros in Ireland, have been concealed from the British public by deliberate and systematic interference by the pro-Sinn Fein operators of telegraphs between Ireland and England. These means have been frequently used to conceal the brutality of the murder campaign.

Moreover, the same tampering with telegraphs is now being used to exaggerate in England the accounts of the reprisals. It is the intention of the Government to check the reprisals by such disciplinary measures as are best fitted to the situation. The Government refuses to apply the strict letter of the law to the acts committed in hot blood under the most extreme provocation, for example, seeing Burke foully murdered at Balbriggan, while celebrating his recent promotion. Although the Government refuses to hang the policemen while the other criminals are at large it will take summary methods to repress the excesses.

At the same time the Government points out that the best way to stop the reprisals would be for the murderers to cease murdering as there has not been instance of a police attack without provocation. It is the Government's intention to persist in their endeavours to bring a settlement to Ireland by a policy rather than arms but a settlement cannot come as concession to murders. The Government intends to proceed with the Home Rule proposals hoping they will provide a rallying centre for the Moderates but it does not intend to adopt any desperate new policy such as the proposal of retiring to the coast of Ireland and retaining only the ports.

COAL CONFERENCE ENDS IN DEADLOCK

MINERS AT DOWNING STREET.

PREMIER URGES FURTHER MEETING

MINERS REFUSE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 9-30. a.m., Oct. 1.

The Coal Conference has ended in a deadlock. The parties have issued a statement that after lengthy discussion the coal-owners submitted a scheme for future regulation of wages based on output which after full consideration the miners' representatives did not accept. The latter submitted further proposals for the present and future regulation of wages in relation to output, which after full consideration the coal-owners' representatives did not accept.

The parties would report separately to Government.

Accordingly the miners proceeded to Downing Street and saw the Prime Minister first. The meeting lasted an hour and three quarters after which Mr. Hodges made a statement that the Prime Minister urged a further meeting with the coal-owners with a view to agreeing on the datum line. The miners replied that they had concluded that no further good would accrue from it and they would have to report to to-morrow's Miners' Conference.

WHY THE CONFERENCE FAILED.

COAL-OWNERS DON'T SEE EYE TO EYE WITH MINERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 9-30 a.m. Oct. 1.

Much disappointment has been caused by the failure of the Coal Conference, which was attended by fifty colliery owners and the full Miners' Executive, who sat for two hours this morning and three and a half this afternoon and evening. Despite the protracted nature of the discussions, the general opinion outside the Conference chamber, based on reliable reports, prevailed until a late moment that there were good prospects of a settlement.

As a communique indicates apparently the gulf which cannot be bridged is due to precisely the same cause as obtained last week until the Government suggested an algebraical datum line for joint consideration That is to say, the coal-owners cannot see eye to eye with the miners in their insistence that two shillings a shift should be conceded right away before—in contradistinction to, simultaneously with—the consideration of the scheme to award increased pay for increased production.

The South Wales Miners' Federation has all along insisted on immediate wage advance. Moreover, it is strongly antagonistic to any settlement on the basis of payment by results unless endorsed by the general body of the miners. A special Conference at Cardiff endorsed this attitude to-day.

VIEWING FROM DIFFERENT ANGLES.

One of the greatest difficulties of the abortive London Conference has been due to the fact that the two parties regard the situation from different angles. Thus the coal owners have always borne in mind that output is the basis of the Government plan, while the miners have all along put wages in the forefront. Hence here has been considerable amount of fencing. Some light thrown on the miners' standpoint if the statement made by Mr. John Cairns M.P., to the Stockburn miners is credible. He predicted a necessary movement for the reduction of the miners working hours to six daily.

MASTER COTTON SPINNERS' FEDERATION.

EMERGENCY COMMITTEE DESIRE CURTAILMENT OF PRODUCTION.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 2-10 p.m., Oct. 1.

A meeting of the Emergency Committee of the Master Cotton Spinners' Federation at Manchester decided that curtailment of productioni was desirable. A ballot of the members will be taken after a meeting between the masters and the operatives to discuss the details.

PROJECTED REFORMS IN CEYLON.

"CONCESSIONS TO CEYLON SHOULD EQUAL THOSE TO INDIA."

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 9-30 a.m. Oct. 1.

Conversing with a representative of the "Pall Mall Gazette" Dr. H. M. Fernando, stated that the projected reforms in the constitution of Ceylon were not so extensive as he and the Ceylonese had rightly expected. He declared that as Ceylon was in many ways ahead of India, concessions to Ceylon should equal those to India. Nevertheless the Ceylonese, while agitating for more should work the reforms up to the hilt and not fellow India's example of non-co operation.

FRANCE'S ECONOMIC POSITION.

A REMARKABLE ACCOUNT.

RELIEVING WORLDS SUPPLY OF WHEAT,

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 9-30 a.m. Oct. 1.

At the International Financial Conference at Brussels the French delegate M. Avenol, gave a remarkable account of France's present economic position stating that the republic without waiting for liquidation of her rights under the Peace Treaty had at once started restoring property of all kinds destroyed by the war. Over three and a half million acres had been put under cultivation thus enabling France to do without half of her importation of foreign wheat, thereby relieving the world's supply. One billion sterling, partly supplied by France's thrifty peasnats and workmen had been spent in restoring the devastated regions and the work was still proceeding apace.

The statement was followed with keen interest and all the delegates even the Germans, applauded it.

U. S. TRADE BETWEEN FAR EAST BRITAIN & CONTINEN

DISCUSSION IN LONDON SHIPOWERS' MEETING.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 1-45 p.m., Oct. 1.

An important meeting of the shipowners in London discussed the proposal for the United States' vessels to participate in regular trade between the far East and Britain and the Continent. It was pointed out that this was interesting as an evidence that the American shipping authorities are desirous that the American vessels should participate in the regular world wide shipping services as well as those from the American ports.

Various lines at present trading entirely approved the Americans sharing this trade, and proposed that their ships should trade on equal terms. A difficulty, however, arose as the rebate system is illegal in the United States. The subject was adjourned.

RESTRICTION OF TEA CROP

INDIAN TEA ASSOCIATION'S CIRCULAR TO MEMBERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.
Recd. 2-10 p.m., Oct. 1.

The Indian Tea Association in London has circularised the members stating that replies have been received showing that approximately eight (or eighty?) per cent of the London controlled concerns are prepared to agree to restriction of crop subject to general support.

A meeting of general committee passed a unanimous resolution recommending that the crop for 1920 be restricted to no more than ninety per cent of the average crops of 1915/19, or alternatively, that the proprietors cease plucking on November 15th and further that the crop in 1921 be limited to not more than eighty per cent of the average crop of 1915/19 subject to the assent of at least eighty-five per cent of the industry. The circular invites the members to-day, which method they will adopt this year and asks for decision with regard to the above recommendation for 1921.

THE PLAN IS NO IMPROVEMENT."

SIR SAMUEL HOARE ON ITS FINANCIAL ASPECT.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL SERVICE.)

LONDON Sept. 29.
Recd. 9-30 a.m., Oct. 1.

Mr. Arthur O'Brien, on of the leaders of the Irish Self Determination League interviewed with regard to Viscount Grey's proposal in his letter to the "Westminster Gazette" declared that the plan was no improvement except in degree upon the methods of the Government which Viscount Grey criticised. The means of securing peace in Ireland was by England's negotiating peace with the Sinn Fein Government.

A Conservative member of the House of Commons and a banker, Sir Samuel Hoare, in an article in the "Nineteenth Century and After" says that if Northern and Southern Ireland would only agree, the British members of Parliament would fall over each other to satisfy their demands. He suggests that the Premier himself should take charge of the Home Rule Bill and that the Government should immediately introduce wide and simple amendments, especially of a financial character. Instead of the proposal that Parliament in London should have control over £43,000,000 of the estimated Irish revenue, while the Irish Parliament would be restricted to three and a half millions and death duties, stamps and certain licence duties. Sir Samuel Hoare maintains that the Irish should control their own sources of indirect taxation simultaneously avoiding fiscal quarrels. He further suggests that the Pope should be invited to send a special Messenger to Ireland.

NON-COPERATION MOVEMENT.

"PALL MALL GAZETTE'S" WARNING TO PREMIER.

"EVERY GENUINE GRIEVANCE MUST BE REMOVED."

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.

The "Pall Mall Gazette" referring in leader to the non-cooperation movement India points out the great danger of ignoring or minimising the threat of the movement similar to the one which has reduced Ireland to sanguinary chaos. It strongly advice Mr. Montagu to reconsider the whole Indian situation afresh. All prejudices should be turned down and all matters, of which the Indians are making grievances, examined. While it is impossible to parely with high treason, every genuine grievance which can be removed must be removed. Only by meeting and removing these sources of friction in time can we prepare the way for establishment of better understanding on which alone the relations with India can be based.

PORT TRUST RAILWAY EMPLOYEES' UNION.

CONFERENCE WITH MANAGER OVER

The Secretary of the P. T. R. E. Union, Mr. Purushottam S. Gole, writes to say that a deputation headed by the President, Mr. V. M. Pawar, and the Vice-President, Mr. D. Chaman Lall, and consisting of eight men met the manager, B. P. T. Railway, Mr. J. R. Reynolds, on the September 27 and 30 to dicuss grievances which the staff had communicated to him. Most of the points at issue were thoroughly threshed out and admirable patience was displayed on both sides. A detailed report will appear later, but the following are some of the main points which were discussed:—

(1) Arrears of pay from 1st April, 1919, to meet the increased cost of living as the prices of all commodities had gone up from 100 to 200 per cent. and more.

(2) The period of the Board's contribution to the Provident Fund at present is given after the completion of 15 years' service, unlike the method adopted by other Railways—where the period is not more than three years. The men demanded the G. I. P. or B. B. & C. I. rule.

(3) House rent.

(4) Long-standing grievances of Train Examiners.

(5) Over-work without remuneration and long duty hours.

The last two points refer to the Train Examiners' staff.

We gather however is that there are grave differences of opinion and it has not been possible to arrive at a satisfactory understanding on all points.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

said:—I have come here as the public to express my sym- the Postal and Telegraph men city and suburbs in their endea- their wages increased so as cost of living in these days of all round. I have special cause say. I belong to a profession, journalism, to which the unin- working of the Postal and Tele- s are almost as vital as the s. I wish here to pay a tribute with which the Postal and of Bombay city have been dis- responsible duties under cir considerable hardship in these

I deeply regret the strike. A strike is as rough and clumsy a way of adjusting differ- ences as war. I wish it had been possible to avoid the strike in this iase, but I recognise that the men had tried all other doors, to redress before they resorted to this strike.

I have gone through the correspondence between the Post office authorities and the men's representatives, and I do not think it can be said that the authorities were unaware of the discontent among the men and their demands for redress of their grievances.

In passing, I would respectfully invite Heads of Departments who have to deal with situations of this kind in this country, to copy the admirable exampl eof calm conciliatoriness set by the Prime Minister in interviewing the Miners' representatives. Outbursts of temper and a dictatorial tone do not help in the least towards bringing about a settlement. They only injure the prestige of high officials with people who look to them.

USE OF SCOUTS, HIGHLY INEXPEDIENT.

There are one or two other general observations which I wish to make before touching on the grievances of the Postal and Telegraph men. In the first place I most earnestly entreat the authorities to discontinue the employment of boy scouts and girl guides to carry on the work of the men on strike. I read the other day that the founder of this great movement has declared against such employment. Whether it be so or not, I think that, by utilising the boys and girls in this way, the postal authorities are sowing the seeds of an evil far transcending any temporary advantages gained by their employment. We are at a critical stage of the relations beween Indians and Englishmen in this country. The scout movement is as yet chiefly confined to children of one section of our community, and it is highly inexpedient to give ground for the impression that the grievances of these post and telegraph men are less appreciated by Europeans than by Indians. I hope, therefore, that the employment of boy scouts and girl guides in connection with the present strike will be at once discontinued, if this has not already been done.

In the next place, I wish equally emphatically to represent the extreme undesirability of bringing men from other provinces to take the place of the strikers. That it is at all possible to do so, is due to the ignorance and illiteracy of the mass of the people. Now it is bad enough that so much ignorance and illiteracy should exist, but it is worse, a thousand times worse, that it should be exploited by a department of the administration to the disadvantage of its employees whose grievances demand redress. The device is sure to create ill-feeling and prejudice between the people of the different provinces, and is a very bad instance of the Machiavellian maxim "Divide and Rule."

I shall be old that the public should not suffer and the work of he Post office must go on wihou interruption. I say that the public has no right to complain if, owing to its own apathy and indifference, a valuable, loyal and law-abiding class of its servants, is driven by the stress of their hardships to rouse it to a sense of their grievances by the only method left to them. I blame the public, and not the post and telegraph men, for the inconveniences caused by this strike, because if the public had done its duty by its servants, there would have been no grievances and no strike. If the public is engrossed in its own affairs, and behaves like a blind and deaf idol towards those who ministers to its needs, it has no right to expect its routine to go on smoothly. I ask the public of Bombay to make up its mind to-day that this strike shall cease, and I assure it, it will cease to-morrow. There is no power on earth which can withstand public opinion ranged on the side of justice and humanity.

GOVT. DEPARTMENTS—ALL TOP HEAVY.

It has all along been my opinion that the departments of Government are all top-heavy. The lower ranks are ill-paid and, therefore, necessarily do not attract the best qualified men for the work to be done. This necessitates an inordinate degree of supervision, and supervision is costly in two ways. It deprives the actual worker of responsibility for his work and thus does away with the most powerful inducement to do his best. Then it promotes the parasitism so characteristic of men who do nothing themselves and are paid to pick holes in other men's labours. The Post and Telegraph offices are no exception to this rule in our public services. The remedy is to improve the pay of the lower ranks, to attrart the best qualified men, and to reduse proportionately the present absurdly high cost of supervision.

Coming to the grievanles of the Post and Telegraphmen, I must confess I have not had the opportunity to study them as fully and in detail as my friend, Mr. Baptista, who has made their cause his own and who will address you presently. I do not, therefore, wish to express any opinion on the merits of the detailed demands of the men. I wish, like you all, to listen to what Mr. Baptista has to tell us and then to from my conclusion as to each item of the demands at liesure.

I may, however, say this now. My perusal of the papers supplied to me, has convinced me that sufficient attention has not been paid by the Simla Committee to the peculiarly special conditions of Bombay city life. No representative of non-official Bombay sat on the Committee. Bombay presents problems not to be found elsewhere in this country, and unless she is specially represented in every such Committee, injustice is sure to be done to her interests. The Government of India should always bear this in mind. It is unfortunate that in this case they did not do so. I feel certain that a small committee of open-minded men, sitting for a coupl t of days, to investigate the claims of the Post and Telegraph mei, on whose behalf we are met here to-day, with special reference to our local conditions, will find not the least difficulty in arriving at a settlement which will be just to these men and satisfactory to the public in whose service they live and move and have heir being.

MR. BAPTISTA.

Mr. Joseph Baptista who received an ovation said:—I am much obliged to you for giving me this opportunity of placing the postmen's case before you. I am aware that a postal strike affects the citizens of Bombay in cour less ways. It causes anxiety to students who are expecting money-orders; to mothers who are expecting to hear from their dear ones and chiefly to business men whose affairs become dislocated and disturbed. For these reasons it is easy to expose the postmen to the odium of the people. I regret to find that undue and unworthy advantage is taken in certain quarters of the natural resentment which anxieties and inconveniences provoke; but it is consoling to see that it is confined to a section of the Anglo-Indian quarters who form a small though an influential minority of the population of Bombay. Nothing has pained me so much as to hear a God-fearing gentleman like Sir Stanley Reed denouncing these peaceful postmen as Robin Hoods—"More Pay or Pistols."

It is dramatic and melodramatic, but is it fair and square? One should have thought that the presumption would be in favour of these men having a legitimate economic grievance. These men are honest and faithful. Their honesty and fidelity have excited the admiration of officials and non-officials alike. They are some of the most popular of our public servants. When such men strike honest men ought to presume they have good cause, and not denounce them as Ali Babas. At least they ought to suspend judgment till they have investigated the case. But what should we say of a journalist who declares that they may have a just grievance, but we express no opinion and ask the people to express no opinion; but first to break the back of the strike and inquire only after they have resumed work in ashes and sackclothe. This is Jedwood justice, known in Urdu as "Agal lat, piche bat." I am confident such conduct will not command itself to you, and that in this respect India is not Anglo India.

THE FACTS.

Now, gentlemen, what are the facts? The facts are these:—The postmen, come from a class intermediate between clerks and inferior class of servants. They have to decipher addresses to three or four languages—in England only one language. They have to climb from two to five or six stories. In England no postmen goes above the ground floor. He has to find the addressee in his room or tenement. In England a postman looks only to the number of the house and drops the letters through a slip on the door and gives a couple of knocks. The people rush down to sort their letters. They have to deliver money-orders—not so in England. They have to go in sun and rain, in streets and houses infected by contagious diseases and this city of dirt and death according to Sir George Lloyd. It is hard work and a hard lot. The result is that most of them quit this valley of tears before they earn their pension. It is hard work with a hard lot. They were thus driven to strike for more pay three years ago. The settlemen was far from satisfactory. So they formed a Union for collective bargaining and self-protection. I happened to be in England at the last strike. When I returned Mr. Dalvi asked me to be President. Unfortunately I succumbed to his blandishments and so I stand before you to-day as Lord High Postman. I found an exhaustive representation was made by Mr. Dalvi regarding the demands and grievances of the postmen, the menial staff. These representations regarding pay and allowances were founded on three grounds. Firstly, the inadequacy of the pre-war emoluments during pre-war days; (2) its aggravation during and after the war and (3) the necessity of a revision to make it atractive enough for the requisite class of men. Many vacancies could not be filled upon existing prospects rendering the work of the others harded. Things become so bad that even the "Times" condemned the Postal administration in severe terms. Mr. Dalvi proposed a time-scale of pay to meet the requirements. They rejected the time scale twice as impracticable. They had abolished the probationary grade of 12 and improved the fifth and fourth grade from 15 and 17 to 16 and 18. It is at this time I appeared on the scene. I made a further representation over a year ago. After long delay Mr. Clarke accorded us an interview Mr. Dalvi and I saw him. We presented our credentials. He scrutinised carefully and was satisfied that overwork was all honorary and not parasitic. Mr. Clarke evidently suspected we were acting as advocates. So he called the men. The men's answers were far more effective than our arguments. This somewhat disconcerted him and he warned them of the pension in the Post Act against strikers. This will show you that for two years representations had been made and at the interview Mr. Clarke was faced with a probable strike. He made some alterations i.e. he abolished Rs. 16 grade, promoted all to Rs. 18 grade, and he created new posts on the grade of Rs. 20 and 25; and increased the allowances entailing an expenditure of about Rs. 1,500 a month. I represented that an additional expenditure of 7,000 was necessary. But he said this was of temporary and he was considering a time-scale of pay. This averted the strike. Then the Committee was appointed. We represented to the Committee that all grades should be abolished and a time-scale of 35—2½—60 should be adopted. In order to make the service attractive to the required class of men we suggested a salary of Rs. 70 for Readers, Rs. 80 for Overseers and we suggested a new post of Sub-Inspectors on Rs. 90. We suggested a house rent of Rs. 10 for postmen and Rs. 12 and 15 for readers, overseers and sub-inspectors. We backed these demands by evidence which showed that the minimum cost of a man and wife and two children in Bombay was 52. We now find that this actually corresponds with the average of the minimum for menials and clerks, according to Government experts. I am told Government expert has recommended the minimum of Rs. 73 for postal clerks. I do not know what he recommended for menials; but I do not believe he could have recommended anything below a coolie's earnings of Rs. 30. The evidence before Government, therefore, indicates that the minimum for the postmen should be Rs. 52. Whereas without challenging our evidence and ignoring their own expert Government have sanctioned the maximum at 52 to be obtained after 21 years' service. For clerks Government have sanctioned Rs. 52 against the recommendation of Rs. 73. This attitude of mind is manifestly unjust. It is an inequitable way of dealing with the poor and powerless class of public servants. These Rs. 52 include house rent of Rs. 7. We asked Rs. 10 for postmen. Is it possible to get a decent well-ventilated room large enough for man, wife and two children in Bombay for less than Rs. 10. Can they get the rooms which policemen get for Rs. 7. Can they get even what the buggies of Bombay get. As for the grades of Readers, Overseers and Sub-Inspectors which was recommended as improving the prospects of the service to render it attractive, Government have abolihsed it all to degraded every one into postmen, of allowing Rs. 7 and 10 as duty allowances to Readers and Overseers. Of course, any postman may be appointed Readers and Overseers. They will not necessarily go to the Seniors.

When this time-scale was sanctioned Mr. Dalvi and Mr. Ginwala saw Mr. Clarke before his departure to England. He appears to have been suffering pain from some illness. Making allowance for such pain at this interview he became irritated with the men and threatened prosecution for striking and he also used language towards Messrs. Dalvi and Ginwalla which offended them. After this there was a meeting of the postmen and menial staff where they passed resolutions censuring the conduct of Mr. Clarke, and expressing its dissatisfaction with the time-scale. After that I communicated these resolutions to the Director-General to sent copies to the Postmaster and Postmaster-General. In this letter I distinctly warned them that delay was dangerous and would drive the men to the weapon of the strike. I asked him to wire to me if Government would reconsider the time-scale. Having received no reply for a fortnight I wired intimating that if I received no reply for a week there the strike would be inevitable. I received no reply to my wire. So the men struck at the end of the week. Two days previous Mr. Sams wrote to say that the men had no juts cause to be dissatisfied. But at his request I saw him. I formed his sympathetic personally, but his his could do nothing. The matter was beyond his powers. His official demeanour was a bland non-possumus. I made it plain that without a message of hope from him promising revision there would be a strike. His attitude was "Well, if there must be a strike, let us have it out now. Sooner or later it must come." But he would or could hold no hope of revision considering the Government had sanctioned all the Committee recommended, and this was even more than the Bombay office had recommended. You will see that for a year the Post officials have apprehended a strike. This is confirmed by the fact that in June last they did not give new uniforms to the postmen. In my letter of 24th August I warned them that delay meant a strike. In my telegram I gave them a week's time. At the end of that week the strike took place. Is there any man who does not trifle with truth that can honestly call this a lightning strike without notice. If he can, the all I can say is that truth can be found only at the bottom of a well or a policeman's cell. Under these circumstances I felt there was no alternative but to strike. But I explained to them that it was a serious affair. On one side was Government with its mighty resources seconded by evil forces for I anticipated the capitalistic cries of Pistols Lightning Thunders, Public v. Postmen Society no danger and so on but I hoped that God, Right and the People of Bombay would be on the side of the postmen. In that hope I sanctioned the strike, and that hope sustains me. I trust you will justify that hope for I can assure before God and our Motherland the demands of the postmen in my humble opinion are substantially justifiable. I believe the same is the case with the menial staff and the Telegraph staff. With these observations I will resume my seat leaving the case of the men in your hands with the fullest belief that they deserve your sympathy and support.

Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas then moved:—

"This meeting of the citizens of Bombay expresses its sympathy with the Post and Telegraph men at present on strike and considers their grievances to be just and reasonable and urges upon the Postal Authorities and the Government of India the urgent necessity, in view of the great public inconvenience and dislocation of business, to take immediate steps to bring about a satisfactory settlement of the present strike."

The mover, speaking in Gujarati, said after the accounts which they had read in the papers and the explanation which they had heard from their friend Mr. Baptista he had ntohing more to say. He hoped the resolution which he had placed before them would be heartily supported by the public. The public had full sympathy with those poor strikers and they would remain with them till the end. While he had been to England last time, he had the experience of the great railway strike, and he could say that the postal strike was not so big as to greatly inconvenience the public. Mr. Baptista had said that it was hard for them to get a room for Rs. 7 in Bombay, but he (the speaker) would say that they would not now get a horse stable even for Rs. 7. He asked whether they were going to treat those poor men as lower than the animals.

Mr. R. P. Khadilkar seconded the resolution.

MR. M. R. JAYAKAR.

Mr. M. R. Jayakar in supporting the resolution, said to begin with, I cannot help congratulating the promoters of this meeting upon having secured, as for the President, a person of Mr. Baptista's wide knowledge and sincerity. That fact alone is intimate to Government, if they are to understand the situation, the sympathy and support of a large class of citizens constituting the public opinion of Bombay, is behind the grievances of the Post and Telegraph men. The attitude of Government sometimes causes great dismay, and when one realises the extreme invidiousness of their expenditure in certain departments of public administration, when one is treated with their untactful nigardliness and unbending obduracy in certain other departments of public administration, one begins to wonder whether one is after all living under an enlightened government, that prides upon calling itself the 'Mabap' of the poor. I shall illustrate my meaning by a little experience which fell to my lot this time last year, while I happened to occupy the office of the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the "Bombay Chronicle." When out for a walk one morning, I happened to go to the height of the hill at the end of the Pedder Road, where Government are building residential houses for their officers. I saw an Englishman watching, with a smile on his face, the palacial residence, then in construction, built for the Chairman of the Bombay Port Trust. When he saw me coming near, and knew from me that I was connected with a daily paper in Bombay, he turned to me and said pointing to the house "Here is an instance on which Indian agitation could fasten itself with great effect. Here are tohusands of rupees wasted out of the public revenues, for building, for the use of the public servants, palacial residences, the comforts of which even princes may envy. Why don't you Indians agitate and expose this terrible waste of public money? This is an agitation in which any sensible citizen of Bombay even including Europeans, would join you." I replied to that just criticism by pointing out that the barbarous tradition still prevailed in this country that highly paid public servants for the sake of their Izzat, must be allowed to live like Nababs out of the public funds." This little instance will illustrate to you the attitude of Government. But what is still more queer is that even amongst public servants Government have their especial favourites. Every class of public servants does not receive equal attention. For instance, you will find, scattered throughout the city, beautiful dwelling houses assigned to the police, with a police station on the lower floors, and comfortable residential quarters for police officers on the upper floors. You will likewise find comfortable quarters built for the lower ranks of the police with facilities for recreation and exercise. This is the case not only in Bombay but also in the moffusil. Why are Government taking so much care, at such extreme cost, of their policemen, to the comparative exclusion of other important classes of public servants, except perhaps the military? Is it because these two forces represent the might and power of Government, as contrasted with other classes of public servants, who merely cater for the convenience of the public? Why is the postman neglected? Why does he not enjoy the same consideration that the policeman does? Is it because the postman is a less deserving servant? When I recall to myself the refined, honest, courteous and gentle looking postman, who brings me my post every morning, and contrast his self-respectful behaviour with the insolence, stolidity and coarseness of the police peon so notorious for his overbearing attitude towards Indians and his abject servility to Europeans, I ask myself the question 'what do Government find in these police peons so overwhelmingly superior to their postal servants that they treat the former with such extreme consideration?' If any postal officer, responsive to public opinion, were present at this meeting to-day, so successfully organized by the promoters of this movement, he would have realized that the sympathy of the middle classes of Bombay, meaning thereby not only the so-called political agitators, but also the people constitut-

POSTMEN'S PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—I have noticed that some mis-statements have recently been made in your paper regarding the postmen's pay and allowances. For instance, it is stated that: (1) The period of the postman's absence on leave owing to sickness, etc., will be deducted in regulating his promotion at the rate of one rupee a year; (2) when a postman is on leave of any kind (including privilege leave) he is not entitled to house rent and duty allowance; (3) he will draw the maximum pay i.e., Rs. 45 after he has rendered 22 years' continuous service; (4) outsiders engaged to replace the strikers are being paid the maximum demanded by the latter.

As regards (1), the statement is misleading. Leave with or without allowances counts towards increments if taken prior to his admission to the time-scale of pay i.e. up to the 1st December, 1919. In other words, all past service put in by each of the postmen counts towards increments. But under the Civil Service Regulations leave without allowances taken subsequent to the 1st December 1919, does not count for increments. The Director-General, however, has the power to waive the operation of the rule on proof being furnished that the leave was taken on account of illness or other cause beyond the official's control.

(2) House rent is granted to postmen in Bombay during privilege leave if not paid to their substitutes. This allowance, however, under the Civil Service Regulations is not admissible during other than privilege leave. Duty allowance is admiseible during privilege leave if a postman continues to have a lien on his appointment and this allowance is taken into account for other leave allowances. In these respects, the postmen are not treated differently from other superior Government servants and they enjoy the same privilege as the latter. Item (3) The statement is incorrect. A postman in Bombay will get the maximum pay after 20 and not after 22 years' service.

Item (4). The allegation has no foundation in fact. The outsiders employed in the places of some of the strikers are given pay and allowances at the maximum [illegible] to Bombay.

I shall be obliged if you will kindly find room for this letter in the next issue of your paper.—Yours, etc.,

H. A. SAMS,
Postmaster-General.

Bombay, Sept. 30.

"AUTOMATICALLY RESIGNED."

POSTMASTER-GENERAL EXPLAINS STRIKERS' POSITION.

The Postmaster-General, Bombay Circle has sent the following further letter to the Hon. Secretary Postmen's Union.

To

The Hony Secretary,
Bombay Presidency Postmen's
No. Strike, dated Bombay, the 29th Sept. 1920.

Sir,

With reference to your letter dated the 29th September 1920, I have the honour to say that the only security that the Post Office has for the uniforms is the pay due to the men. For that reason the men will not be paid until they return their uniforms.

2. As regards your query whether the strikers are in the service of the Department from the 20th instant, it is obvious that by deserting their work on the midnight of the 19th they automatically resigned their appointments.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
(Sd.) H. A. SAMS.
Postmaster-General.

END OR MEND.

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—How long will the present state of postal chaos last? The authorities must end the strike or mend anyhow the present system of delivery centres which is full of confusion. The business offices here are placed to a considerble loss because of delay in getting letters. Those who have any idea of insurance business can know what it means for an insurance Co., not to receive information of insurances effected by sub-agents in the mofussil, for days together. It may, in case of a fire, result in serious loss which otherwise would have been distributed between several other fire offices In business time is money and if letters are not received in time it means serious loss. Without, therefore, entering into the merits of the case between the authorities and the postmen, we earnestly request the powers that be to mend matters. How? It is not for us to say. But any how the present intolerable condition must atonce be put a stop to. Will any body listen?—Yours, etc.,

AN INSURANCE MAN.

NEED OF ACTIVE SYMPATHY.

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—The strike has continued for more than a week and any possibility of compromise appears to be as far as ever. Things are every day going from bad to worse and inspite of the heroic talk, even the officials know this. I do not know how far new centres have facilitated delivery, but I know new centres have increased the possibility of letters being lost. It is, perhaps, not possible to take legal steps against the authorities for the loss of important letters and inconvenience and loss to the people, but the offence is not less heinous on that account.

It is said the demands of the postmen are just and the public have every sympathy with them. I suppose it is a fact, but what is done by the public to demonstrate this sympathy? There is no time to wait. The citizens of Bombay must express their opinion. The Bombay leaders should organise a public meeting and pass resolutions expressing their sympathy with the demands of strikers and their willingness to pay increased postage rates if the Postal Department really cannot bear this additional expenditure.—Yours, etc.

M. R. PARANJPE.

Bombay, Sept. 29.

HOW LONG?

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir.—When is the Postal strike to end and how long have the public to suffer?

A delivery centre has been opened in my locality just opposite to where I live and as I keep at home whole time because of my illness, I regret to say that the letters lie in heaps uncared for and anyone takes away any letter at his pleasure. I have observed young boys putting letters and packets in their arm-pits and ruuning away only to go a little far off and tear them off the incident, observed by me just now, has caused me to write to you so that, by giving publicity a further complaint may be added to the long list of grievances appearing in your paper. I have myself not been able to secure a single letter during the period of strike and the rush is so great at all times that my young brothers who go in search of my letters return after a couple of hours without finding any at all. It is the duty of the Postal authorities to see that the grievances of the Public are attended to—Yours, etc.

AN OBSERVER & SUFFERER.

Dongri, Sept. 27.

POSTAL STRIKE CONTINUES.

13TH DAY OF STRIKE

A CITY IN DARKNESS.

The Postal and Telegraphic strike continued yesterday. Nothing worthy of note transpired. There is clearly, no disposition on either side to yield—till, of course, matters reach an intolerable climax. To-day is the thirteenth day of the strike and unless the public insist on putting a stop—and that too without the loss of a single day more—to this disgraceful state of affairs, which would not be tolerated for such a long time anywhere in the West, there is the possibility of the strike surpassing the period of the last great total strike of 1917, which lasted for 20 days. The public meeting of Thursday was a success, but will it bring about the end of this strike the soonest possible? We doubt much, looking to the adamant attitude of the authorities, in spite of public protests, have maintained all throughout. The men, knowing fully well that their claims are just have been firm and unanimous to a man. While the authorities, backed up by the effusions of the scribes of Bori Bunder and Dalal Street, fondly imagine—and make others believe—that the things are going on fairly well, and hope to bend the strikers to their knees by prolonging the strike. Thus their game of delaying an amicable and just settlement continues to cause to the public the maximum of inconvenience. For what do these gods of Simla and Fort Street care for loss of thousands or even lakhs of rupees, for they will not have to pay this loss form their pockets. Nor will it, in any way, affect the case of promotions of the Postal bureaucracy, for which the local gods ran up as far as Simla.

Yesterday a couple of Postal inspectors graced the maidan with their presence, and tried to win over some of the strikers, and to create a breach in the solid phalanx of the strikers, but their attempts miserably failed.

The resolutions passed at Thursday's public meeting have been wired to the Director-General, the Viceroy, the Governor of Bombay, and a copy of them has also been forwarded to the Postmaster-General. The Postmaster-General who has been good enough to explain about the position of men and about the uniform, has conveniently forgotten to explain why this time especially Postal men were not given a new dress at due time, which was in June last. His demand for the old dress which have done an over-service of three months is simply stupid, and irritating to a degree.

A BOON ON PATIENT PUBLIC.

As will be seen from our local columns, the Presidency Postmaster announces the conferring of a great boon on the public by stating that "with effect from Monday next unregistered and registered parcels including value-payable registered parcels will be booked only at the Bombay General Post Office (Italics not ours) between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on week days." The notice reminds the patient public of Bombay to note that "no issued parcels will be accepted for the present." (Italics ours.) So the authorities after the lapse of half a month hope to resume this suspended business of parcels, and that also, mind you, at the burra office alone. Who will, under such circumstances, say: For this partial relief many thanks?

ESHER COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

PARTS II. TO IX.

Yesterday, we published, in full, Part I of the Esher Committee's Report. Below will be found covering despatches to Part II and Parts III to IX by the Committee:

PART II

To The Right Honourable E. S. Montagu, M.P.

Sir,

Throughout this Report, we have been guided by the consideration that the army in India, as in all civilised States, furnishes the ultimate sanction for the security of the people against external aggression and for the maintenance of internal tranquility. We are impressed by the necessity of maintaining this instrument, placed as it always must and should be in the hands of the civil power, in the highest state of efficiency. Whatever form the future Government of India may take, however it may be democratised, and whatever advance may be made on the part of the various sections of the Indian community towards national and imperial unity, the army cannot fail to remain a vital attribute of government in the hands of the dominant authority.

The proposals made by us in Part I having been in the main approved by you, we have in Part II attempted to deal with the difficult question of Supply, to explain in detail the functions which, in our view, should be imposed upon the Military Council, the constitution of which we recommended in Part I, and to make certain proposals regarding Military Finance.

We propose that a Military Council should be constituted for the purpose of assisting the Commander-in-Chief, with a view to relieving him, not of his responsibility, but of manifold duties which, without impairing that responsibility, he can, and should, delegate to his staff officers at Army Headquarters. We desire to impress upon the Commander-in-Chief and upon the officers in question the absolute necessity of carrying out loyally and to the full this principle of delegation. All sound administration is based upon it. No administrator, however able and however conscientious, can interpret responsibility in the sense of giving personal attention and sanction to every act of administration, if the accomplishment of his task is to stand the test of efficiency.

In the constitution of the Military Council, [illegible] we have effected to its various members and in the handling of this difficult question of military supply, we have all been guided by the supreme consideration of the efficiency of the army in war, compared with a due regard to the best interests of the Indian tax-payer. We aim at establishing a system which, while it will work simply and economically in time of peace, will be adaptable, without undue friction and disturbance, to the conditions even of such a war as that in which the Empire has recently been engaged.

We lay stress upon the importance, as it appears to us, of organising in India a system of military administration which will establish a chain of responsibility from the Commander-in-Chief himself through his Military Council to the military commands, and so down to divisional units, in order that the test of war, whenever it is applied, shall find ready to hand a body of men expert in administration as well as in command, ready to meet its exigencies. While we are anxious to see officers from their youth up trained in administration as well as in general staff duties, we are conscious that under a voluntary system such as ours, it is impossible to rely wholly for the administration of the army upon the soldier. There are certain spheres of administration to which a civilian element must not only be introduced, but should be cordially welcomed. This axiom especially applies to the region of provision and production of material, which is essential to the military needs of an army in peace time and in the field. The provisioning of an army with [illegible] that it requires, which is ordinarily covered by the term "supply," has been considered carefully by us in consultation with the most experienced authorities, both in India and at home. There has been much conflict of opinion and we have been furnished with advice in divers forms. Powerful arguments, supported by experience in war and by knowledge of Indian conditions, have been used in the course of our discussions in favour of various solutions of what is dmitted to be a complicated problem.

The recommendations which we have made in Part II have been signed by us, but we regret that in regard to section 1 a divergence of views has occurred.

While detracting from the constructive value of our report this divergence of opinion will not, we venture to hope, prove a serious obstacle in attempting to arrive at a decision upon the functions to be vested in the Commander-in-Chief.

We are all agreed in our recommendations regarding the composition and functions of the Military Council, except to the extent that the minority desire to see added to it a member, with the title of Surveyor-General of Supply, to whom they would entrust those functions of production and provision which the majority advocate placing under a separate Member of the Executive Council.

PARTS III. TO IX.

To The Right Hon. E S. Montagu, P.C.

Sir,

We beg now to forward to you the further and concluding Parts of our Report. The enquiry upon which these portions of our Reports are based was mainly conducted in India, although our recommendations have been fully discussed and finally settled after the return of the Committee to this country.

These portions of our Report deal mainly with questions of administration, and with certain specific questions of organisation with which we have been asked to deal. Although our terms of reference include the words "where necessary the organisation of the Army in India," we have not conceived it to be part of our duty to enquire into or to submit recommendations regarding the numbers and composition of the Army in India, nor the specific purposes for which that army is required in view of the greater responsibilities assumed by the British Empire in consequence of the Treaties of Peace recently concluded. We have made recommendations, at your request, in regard to the formation of a Territorial Force in India, but we were not invited to express an opinion upon the ratio of British to Indian troops.

Parts III to IX cover a wide field. They deal with matters of administration vitally affecting the contentment of the Army in India. We hope and believe that the suggestions which we have made will contribute to the well-being of the British and Indian soldiers under the control of the Government of India.

In the concluding Part of the Report we have drawn attention to the effects upon Indian finance of the recommendations which we have made. It is impossible for us to form even an approximate estimate of the cost to the Indian tax-payer, but we are convinced of the necessity of raising the standard of living for British and Indian soldiers of all ranks, if the spirit of both is to be maintained at the high level which [illegible] interests of the Indian Empire.

One of our Indian colleagues, Sir [illegible] Gupta, has reminded us [illegible] notes at the end of his Report, of the announcement declaration of policy made in August, 1917, with a view of placing India on the road to the attainment of a Dominion status. That was not overlooked this Proclamation was made clear in the letter which we addressed to you in connection with Part I of our Report. A Dominion status implies responsibilities as well as privileges, and this obvious reflection has been borne in mind by us throughout the whole of our enquiry and the recommendations which we have based upon it.

Another of our colleagues, Sir Umar Hayat Khan, holds strong opinions on the subject of the conditions of enlistment in the Indian Army, and views with grave apprehension any suggestion to convert it into a short-service army on the lines of some continental armies. We understand that, though there is no intention of proceeding so far as this, still in order to secure an effective reserve to cover wastage in the field it may be necessary to shorten the period of service with the colours. We hope that any change in this direction will be introduced with caution, since we hold that every unit of a voluntary army should contain a considerable proportion of well-trained and seasoned men.

We have endeavoured not to trench, more than was absolutely necessary, upon matters which clearly lie within the sphere of the General Staff. Where we have done so, it has been at the request of Army Headquarters.

Our recommendations have been made with the view of enabling the Government of India and yourself to form practical conclusions upon a series of problems that have given rise to some controversy in the past, and to place them in a light which may minimise controversy in the future and lead to their easy solution.

We desire gratefully to acknowledge the assistance which you have rendered us, which has been afforded to us by the officials of the India Office under your control, by the Viceroy, the Commander-in-Chief and officers of every rank and degree, in India, as well as the valuable services which have been rendered to us by our secretaries, Colonel C. M. Wagstaff and Major T. W. Lloyd.

Our colleague, Lieut.-General Sir John DuCane, Master-General of the Ordinance, has asked to be excused from signing Parts III—IX, on the grounds that he was prevented from going to India with the Committee, and that owing to his heavy official duties he has been unable to attend regularly the meetings that have taken place since the Committee returned. We appreciate the reasons which have actuated him.

It is a matter of deep regret that we have not had the advantage of the presence, during the later stages of our discussions, of our colleague, Lieut.-General Sir Claud Jacob, who was unavoidably detained in India, but our conclusions have been submitted to him, and it is a matter of satisfaction to us to feel that they meet with his general approval.

DEFRAUDING "BUCKET SHOP" KEEPERS.

HEAVY SENTENCES ON TWO ACCUSED.

At the Esplanade Police Court, Mr. Frank Oliveira, Third Presidency Magistrate, delivered judgment in the case in which Sub-Inspector Desai of the C. I. D. charged Bomanji Vaid and Esmailji Ebrahimji Sadaria with cheating Udhavsa Pandusa, of Messrs. L. Pandusa and Company, "bucket-shop" keepers, in respect of Rs. 9,300 on the 4th of October, 1919, and abetting each other in the commission of the offence.

Rao Saheb Raghunathrao appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. Kotewal, pleader, defended the first and Mr. Baptista, Bar.-at-Law, defended the second accused.

His Worship delivered a lengthy judgment convicting both the accused.

THE JUDGMENT.

The evidence showed that the complainant Udhava Pandusa had about twelve "bucket shops" in several parts of the city in October 1919, for receiving bets in connection with the Poona races of last year. One of these was in the billiards saloon of witness Jehangirji Shapoorji at the Corner of Grant Road and was in charge of the first accused. The procedure adopted for receiving bets was that a printed form was to be filled in by the punter mentioning the horse or horses he backed for win or place and the amount he staked on each horse, or on doubling or trebling as he chose. The duty of the first accused was to receive the forms, accept the money, laid on bets from the punter, fill in the amount in each of the foils of a receipt-book, which was made up of a counter-foil and two outer foils, enter the number of the receipts on the corresponding forms on the receipt and hand over two outer foils to the punter. Bets were accepted till about ten minutes before the time fixed for the running of the first race. On the afternoon of the 3rd October the first accused attended the Grant Road shop alone, and registered a few bets. The next day he had the assistance of the clerk to fill in the forms and their duplicates. On that day he continued to receive bets till 2 p.m. About 1 p.m. the complainant came into the shop and remained there till the betting was closed. When he left the shop with the bag containing papers and the money he took the first accused with him.

The prosecution case was that form No. 18981 which was filled in by the first accused in ink and contained two bets, viz., one on Summerton Rs. 300 for win and Rs. 200 for place, and the second on Magdala Rs. 200 for place, was not genuine, but that a form had been filled in after the results of the first and the second races were known in Bombay and that that had been done in conspiracy with the second accused who had given the first accused Rs. 700 to be utilised only after the results of the first race had been known with the view to cheat the complainant.

The case of the first accused was that one Abdul Husein had come to him at the Grant Road office about 1 p.m. with a form ready filled in for Rs. 1,000 on the 4th of October, Abdul Husein, however, brought Rs. 700 and asked for credit for Rs. 300 on behalf of the second accused. As he (the first accused) could not give credit for Rs. 300 he filled in another form at the request of Abdul Husein.

The case of the second accused was that he was an innocent punter and whatever irregularities had been committed by the first accused and whatever fraud had been intended to be practised by him on his employer he (the second accused) could in no way be held responsible for the same.

His Worship, in delivering judgment, said that the circumstantial evidence, however, was sufficiently convincing to his mind that there had been conspiracy between the two accused to cheat the complainant. The documentary evidence and the conduct of the two accused in his Worship's opinion tell most strongly against them. His Worship believed that the case for the prosecution was true, and convicted both the accused on the charges framed against them. He had given most careful consideration to the question of punishment in this case. The fraud contemplated by the accused involved a sum of Rs. 9,300 of which the second accused received in cash Rs. 6,300. He had not returned that amount or any part of it to the complainant. The first accused was in a position of trust and abused the confidence placed in him by his employer and that for the benefit of the second accused with whom he had made common cause.

His Worship, continuing, said that he would be failing in his duty if he were not to pass deterrent sentences. He, therefore, sentenced each of the accused to rigorous imprisonment for one year with a fine of Rs. 1,000 or, in default, a further term of six months.

About 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Sonoobai, a Hindu woman 20 years' old, working in a paper mill at Lamington Road was returning with an empty basket of pulp from the first-floor when her foot slipped and she fell on the shafting. Her "sari" was caught in the belting and she was jammed between the shafting and the belting. The engine was at once stopped and she was extricated and removed to the J. J. Royal Yakuti.

This Yakuti or life giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest, and richest vegeable drugs. I has wonderful properties of increasing virile power and it rectifies urinary disorders. In fact it makes man a man. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities not only by our Rajas, Maharajas, Nawabs and many of the nobility, aristocracy and gentry in this Country, but it is greatly patronized by people in all countries of Europe, America, Asia and Africa. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We recommend its especially to those persons who desire to tone the nervous system, to strengthen the body, refresh the memory, and to guard against debility. Suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the Ayurvedic medicines. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It replaces lost power and rejuvenates the emaciated and it is enough to say that much is not that which a perfumer admires. It is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 48 pills, Rupees ten only.

THE LATE MR. TILAK.

MS. S. H. SWINNYS TRIBUTE.

The following tribute to the late Mr Tilak appears in the September issue the "Positivist Review" from the pen of it Editor Mr. S. H. Swinny:

"By the death of my friend, Mr. Bal Gangadhar Tilak, one of the most powerful of the leaders of Indian Nationalism has passed away. I did not always agree with him, but I never ceased to honour his patriotic devotion and admire his unsurpassable courage. Often prosecuted, he passed long years in prison, without swerving a hair's-breadth from his chosen path. Twice unjust convictions were reversed by the High Court of Bombay.

HOW HE FOUGHT.

He was one of those who could neither be cajoled nor intimidated. In spite of all his sufferings, he did not allow a justifiable indignation to biats his political judgment; emerging from a long captivity, he did not hesitate to declare that the cause of the Allies in the late war, was the cause of Civilisation. On one point, I was thoroughly in agreement with him. Like him, I always thought it a misttke to mix questions of social and domestic reform among the Hindus with the pursuit of political freedom, which concerned the entire people; and I deprecated the wholesale introduction of European custom—especially under an alien Government. In these matters he was a Conservttive. It has been a favourite charge against Indian politicians that they were merely eloquent talkers, representing only a microscopic Europeanised minority; but Mr. Tilak was far surpassed by others as an orater; and he had throughout his life the enthusiastic support of masses of his fellow-countrymen. And he was not only a politician. His beautiful and suggestive book, "The Arctic Home in the Vedas", is known to some of the readers of this Review; and whether or no he succeeded in proving the extreme antiquity he claimed, most agreed that the Vedas were far older than hid previously been thought.

CASE AGAINST A SADHU.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

BANKIPORE, Sept. 29.

The Additional District Magistrate Patna yesterday, heard a case in which Sadhu was charged with attempting to seduce Indian troops at Dinapore. Lieut. Hazard of the machine gun battalion, examined, said that in the second week of September Vavildar Nathy Khan reported that the accused had been causing trouble in the lines. The man was arrested and sent under escort to the Serah barracks and afterwards made over to the police. Two sepoys deposed that, while they were cleaning saddles the accused came and began to speak about Government service not being right that cleaning leather was not proper. They reported the matter to Havildar Nathy Khan, who arrested the accused.

Two other sepoys corroborated the previous witnesses, after which the case was adjourned to Friday next.

SIMLA, Sept. 29.

Authentic information has been received from Mesopotamia that the British column now operating in Diyalah division, recently brought in a party of twelve Turis from Durram, who were enroute to Karabala and Najaf as pilgrims. The party had been stripped to the skin, robbed and beaten by insurgents and are now resting from their fatigues in Baghdad. On recovery, they will be given choice of being escorted to Museyib and thence completing their pilgrimage at their own risk or waiting till the whole journey can be done under British protection.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK.

During the last week there was rain in parts of all districts of the Presidency proper. It was beneficial to standing crops and for rabi sowing but more is still generally needed. Inundation in Sind continues low. Standing crops are in good condition except in parts of Sind and Gujarat where they are withering. Rabi sowing continues. The supply of fodder was sufficient except of Thar Parkar Nasik, Ahmednagar, Poona and Satara. The supply of water was generally adequate. Agricultural stock was generally in good condition. Prices of food grains have risen slightly. The quantities purchasable per rupee were as follows: Sind 52 to 71, percentage below normal; Gujarat 33 to 61, percentage below normal; Konkan 43 to 50 percentage below normal; Deccan 48 to 68, percentage below normal; Karnatak 55 to 68, percentage below normal.

GUARD CUM SOLDIER ZOOLUM.

INDIAN BARRISTER EJECTED FROM TRAIN.

The Simla correspondent of the "Tribune" writes under date September 19:—

The preferential treatment at the heads European employees of European passengers at the Simla railway station has ever been keenly felt by Indians but so far the railway authorities concerned have taken no notice of their occasional complaints. It was yesterday only that an Indian barrister who was occupying a seat in the second class compartment in the down Calcutta Mail was badly treated by a guard and a soldier. A soldie and too ladies were sitting in the same compartment but at the time the train was to start the soldier with the consent of th guard thrust out the luggage of the Indian gentleman. The gentleman asked the guard "if it is inconvenient to other passengers you must provide me with another seat. Although there was sufficient accommodation in the unbooked compartment, the guard told him to find a seat for himself at this narrow hour. In the meantime the statio master and assistant station master arrived a the scene but as the train was delayed on this account and in order to prevent further delay the station master provided the passenger with an inter class seat. It is understood that the gentleman is likely to take action against those who impided his occupation of his seat.

NEED OF NON-COOPERATION.

SWAMI SATYADEV ADVOCATES BOYCOTT OF COUNCILS.

Under the joint auspices of the Home Rule League and the National Union, public lecture was delivered by Swami Satyadev on "Non-Cooperation and the Boycott Councils" on Wednesday night at Shantaram's Chawl, Mughbat Lane.

The lecturer said that a lecture on Non-Cooperation by a Swami before a meeting was a strange thing for them. They did not understand how much the Sadhus suffered under this Government. Wherever they went the police had kept an eye over them. So Non-Cooperation was the best thing for them The power of man always fought with the might of God and the history of the world showed this, as also the religions of the Jains and the Buddhists bore witness to this. Whatever difficulties came in their way, they would be overcome by Non-Cooperation. The question of Non-Cooperation was th best for men as it taught them freedom and, if they followed it with patience, the people of Europe would have to bow their heads before them. Up till now India had produced a type of children that were slaves to many whims but if they produced men who knew how to serve their country, they would see that liberty was theirs. That must be their ideal if they wanted to be a frew nation.

BOYCOTT OF COUNCILS.

Referring to the boycotting of the Councils, he urged upon them to preach this to the public as much as they could. He was a slave who lived on the crumbs of his master, but the man who did not eat from the hands of others, but by the sweat of his brow, was a free man. The boycott of the Councils would show to Government how it was respected by the people. It was for them to stand on their own legs and independent of each other. If they desired to make any progress they should preach the boycott of the Councils. The fire was burning in their houses and they remained silent, and if they did so, the house would be burnt up, so it was for them to extinguish it. They should show to the proud nations of Europe, by Non-Cooperation, that their pride would be trampled down under foot by them. It was for them to show to the West by rising up and doing their duty by taking up Non-Cooperation as the sword which would establish God's kingdom on earth and they should rest on God as their principles were based on justice and God would protect them.

CONGRESS SUB-COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

LAJPUT RAI'S PROTEST.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, Sept. 29.

In the course of a letter to the Press, Lala Lajpat Rai, referring to the Congress Sub-Committee's report on draft instructions re-Non-cooperation, takes exception to the statement that the Congress has approved of Mr. Gandhi's full programme. He takes an equally strong exception to the statement that the clause relating to foreign goods was an unfortunate interpolation due to misapprehension. It was, he says, neither interpolation nor passed under misapprehension. It was proposed by Mr. Gandhi in the open Congress and passed. Under the circumstances, the statement was entirely unwarranted and he is glad Mr. Patel had challenged its accuracy. Lala Lajpat Rai adds: I am in full sympathy with the spirit of the document, but do not want that the nation should be bound down to things, which we cannot give account of in the near future. I may add any language used in the draft instructions, which is a reflection on the Congress is out of place and any instructions which are oposed to it ultra vires.

MR. MADON AND MR. BASU.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—Mr. Prophulla Chandra Basu has been good enough to reply to my queries about debasing and the reply shows that he does not really understand or appreciate the fundamental change in our currency by means of the Gold Exchange Standard System. He compares our position to that of China and says if the rise in silver added to the Chinese Governments' resources in meeting its American obligations it would also be a debasing as defined by me. It is clear that he wants to imply that our position is similar to China's i.e. that we are a silver standard country whose exchange value in gold has risen owing to the rise in silver. If he does, I must really ask him, to read up not his economics but the Report of the Chamberlain Commission and first have a clear grasp himself of what the rupee really is before he strats out to instruct others.

As clearly and distinctly laid down by the Chamberlain Commission the rupee is merely a token coin. Although made of silver, it represents a certain number of grains of gold and has really no business to move up and down with the movements of silver.

Mr. Basu will better appreciate the difference between the Chinese Currency and the Rupee if he will remember that while the Tael went up from 2sh-3d to 9sh with the rise in Silver from 22 to 89 the same Tael will go down again when silver goes back from 89 to 22. Does Mr. Basu believe that our rupee will go down similarly? If he does I am afraid he has not at all understood what the Government is after.

Mr. Basu is good enough to give his own definition of debasement. He says

"By debasement I understand a reduction of the intrinsic value of a coin its face value unchanged together with (i.e. combined with) over-issue."

I am astonished at such a definition from a Professor of Economics. Does he seriously want to say that the Sovereign would not be a debased coin if the British Government made it of 100 Grns. only instead of 113 grns. as now, provided there was no overissue of such sovereigns? If he does mean this, I can only conclude that he does not understand what a Standard Coin is and why it is made.

His mistaken views about debasing are again clearly seen in his further question to me whether a two rupee coin of less than double the silver contents would have maintained the system without debasing. My reply is that the rupee being a token and depending for its value in circulation not on its bullion contents, but on the gold value given to it by Government it does not matter how much silver it is made of Nobody that accepts a rupee in payment accepts it, because it is a full tola of standard silver.

For the benefit of Mr. Basu I would like to explain that every contract that has a money consideration really implies the payment of a named quantity of the standard metal. As we have been placed on a Gold Standard (see the Chamberlain Report) our standard metal is really gold and all our payments although named in rupees really call for a given number of grains of gold or its equivalent in commodities. They do not mean a given number of tolas of standard silver.

Now where there is a contract to pay a given amount, the parties to it can be defrauded in two ways. Suppose the contract was for payment of 753 grns. of gold. If it was the debtor that wanted to defraud the creditor he would reduce the figure from 753 to say 600. If on the other hand it was the creditor that wanted to defraud the debtor he would increase the figure from 753 to 900 or 1000 or 1100. This is what has been done with our Currency. Every debt in this country has been thus changed. Every man that owned Rs. 100 to another and who formerly had to provide only 753 grns. of gold or its equivalent will hereafter be obliged to find 1130 grns. or its equivalent. The present currency changes are therefore a fraud of the second kind and they are a fraud on the producers of this country who form the bulk of the debtor class.

The fraud does not end with an addition to their past burdens, but extends to a reduction of their current and future income as I have already shown in previous letters on the subject.—Yours, etc.

A Doctor says:

"I do not think so good a food as Glaxo can be brought before the public by the medical profession too strongly."

Glaxo is the food doctors recommend and rear their own babies on. This is because Glaxo is not an "artificial" food, but is just pure, uncontaminated milk made safe and suitable for baby by the Glaxo process. Glaxo contains NO malt, NO flour, NO starch.

Glaxo

has been persistently used by Infant Welfare Centres in Great Britain for the last twelve years. These Centres now purchase nearly a quarter of a million pounds weight of Glaxo every month, enough to feed over 50,000 babies continuously.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM SOLVED.

Traffic conditions are growing serious nowadays in the large cities in the East owing to the large number of commercial trucks and passenger cars on the roads.

Business foresight demands a truck that can be operated with low cost and carry big loads through this congestion with speed, ease and safety.

The "D" type 3-ton 36-40 H. P. Leyland truck easily meets these conditions.

It has the following advantages—
An excellent turning radius—quick pick-up—positive brake action on all four wheels—equalization of power and load on four wheels, reducing stress on any one part—perfect track—and the very best grade material.

The results: quicker deliveries—less wear and tear on the parts—longer truck life and lower operating costs.

Consider all these points carefully and you will come to the conclusion that the "Leyland" is the only truck for your business requirements.

INDIGESTION

is rarely due to any organic derangement of the digestive organs, but instead is almost always caused by acidity and food fermentation, which, by irritating and distending the stomach, causes most of the pain and distress variously known as indigestion, flatulence, gastritis, and acidity. Neutralise the acid and stop the fermentation, and nine times out of ten the trouble will disappear. For this purpose one of the best things is to take Bisurated Magnesia Tablets. Those who have tried them say the results are truly remarkable—all pain and distress disappearing within five minutes. Go to-day to your chemist, and get a flask of Bisurated Magnesia Tablets. Take two or three with a little warm water immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt, and very soon you will be telling your dyspeptic friends that they too will be able to eat what they like with impunity if they follow your example, and take

DR. S. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR

"DIABETES SPECIALIST."

RARE AND INVALUABLE SPECIFIC FOR THE CURE OF "DIABETES."

After a short visit to the Madras Presidency on professional work Dr. S. RANGASWAMI IYENGAR, the well-known Diabetes Specialist has RETURNED TO BOMBAY and will be glad to treat "DIABETES" suffering patients.

During the short stay he has made here before he has treated and has completely cured many persons of whom the following are a few:—

KANYALAL BADRIDAS, a Cotton Merchant, Bombay writes:—

"It gives me great pleasure in testifying to the real efficacy of Dr. S. R. Iyengar's medicinal drugs. I was suffering from "Diabetes" for the last 12 years—Commenced Dr. Iyengar's treatment—my urine was examined by the Bombay Municipal Analyst the Sp. Gravity was 1037 and sugar 5-62 per cent. After treatment, the examination of the same Municipal Analyst; and Dr. N. H. Clubwala M. D. B. Hy. (Bombay) at Dr. Masina Hospital Pathological Laboratory "Sugar was found nil" and Sp. Gravity 1013.

Mr. BHAILAL V. KHOTHARI, B.A., LL.B., Vakil, High Court, Bombay, writes:—

"It gives me great and sincere pleasure in testtifying to the real efficacy of Dr. S. R. Iyengar's medical drugs. I was suffering from Diabetes for over 4 years and had tried many well-known doctors of Bombay but without any effect. I then put myself under the treatment of the said Doctor Iyengar and he prescribed a course of 7 complete weeks for me. As each week progressed the disease that could not at all be controlled before, began to abate with the result that I was completely cured at the end of the course, in such a marvellous way that I can very well say that Dr. Iyengar is not a diabetes specialist in name but a specialist indeed in reality. My Sp. Gr. which was 1038 in the beginning of the course came down to 1015 at the end and grains of sugar per ounce of urine fell down from 24 to nil while sediments were not at all visible.

MAULVI ZAFAR ALI KHAN'S TRIAL.

SCENES IN COURT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, Sept. 29.

Two more prosecution witnesses gave evidence to-day in the case against Maulvi Zafar Alikhan who stands charged with offences under section 124A and 153A I. P. C.

When the Hon. Malik Muhamed Amin Khan, Member of the Punjab Legislative Council was giving his evidence the accused put some question to the witness, which the court ruled out. On a further question put by the accused, the witness replied that as result of the speech delivered by the accused, people began to resign their services. After the witness had finished his evidence and was coming out of the court room, people hissed him and cried "shame" on him. The Magistrate asked the accused who were these people who were crying "shame" on the witness. The accused said they were his friends and sympathisers. The Magistrate asked them to apologise before the court, which the people did.

After the prosecution had closed its evidence, the court asked the accused to produce any defence he liked. The court then put several questions to the accused after which he was allowed to read his written statement which covered nearly twenty five typed pages.

ACCUSED'S STATEMENT.

Concluding his long statement the accused said:—"Everything I said at the Hazro meeting was based upon my religious convictions and derived its ultimate sanction from the teachings of the Holy Faith of Islam. If the authorities consider my action illegal or offensive, there is no help for it. For I am bound by my Faith to act in the manner and can assure the authorities that no Musalman can profess views or act in a manner contrary to what I have done, without forfeiting his claim to be regarded as a Mussalman. I maintain I have excited no disaffection against His Majesty the King and have not excited people of this country against the Government of India. When tutored police witnesses, produced by the prosecution, admit in their own way that I expected the Hazro audience to remain unshakeably loyal to the King-Emperor and on no account to commit violence, surely this is not exciting disaffection towards His Majesty, or the Government of India. I, therefore, demand in the name of Islam, which is my only shield against official tyranny, that I be restored to full liberty at once. If this act of bare justice is denied to me and I am sentenced ostensibly on a charge of sedition, but really to serve as a convenient sacrifice on the altar of repression, then I shall have the satisfaction of feeling that I have done some slight service to my Faith and to my country."

After the accused had finished his statement, the Court framed charges against him under Section 124-A and 153-A, I. P. C.

The Court then adjourned till to-morrow, when the public prosecutor will address arguments.
